A 2009.216.36.02 Records	The second book in the collection of Charles Mountfort, being Traverse Book 2, written in a much more structured manner. This book begins with the Traverse of the Oroua River from Whiskers Trig Station to Otuku Stream, Aorangi Estate. Taihape Area - boundary of Taihape Suburban Section to Hinau Valley Road; some of this included the Main Trunk Railway. A major traverse of the Wairarapa based on the Masterton area. An inspection survey of Kimbolton Road, McArthur Street and Stafford Street, Feilding. An inspection of Mr Gillett's survey of Waituna.	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive
A 2009.216.36.03 Records	Traverse Book 3 of Charles Mountfort, surveyor. This book covers Standard surveys for Nelson, Wanganui, and Napier. Nelson survey covers the traverse from Hampden St East around the city. Wanganui starts at Victoria Avenue and traverses the city Napier survey begins at Marine Parade	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive
A 2009.216.36.04 Records	The scope of this diary is wide, including Wanganui, Rangitikei, Kimbolton, Wellington, Nelson, Waikato, and Northern Hawkes Bay.	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive
A 2009.216.36.05 Records	Book No 5 is a compilation of Charles Mountfort's working figures and notes and as such is, like Book 1, written in a more haphazard manner. There is even a small faint sketch by Mountfort of a landscape scene. Again a lot of the calculations and notes relate to Wanganui and Napier, and include a list of Traverse Sheets for Wanganui. Mountfort has written explanations for some of his calculations. Included in this diary Mountfort has a computation of Taikoria Trig Station on the old Rangitikei Meridian, and the Ashhurst Bunnythorpe Road. A detail of a test of 4 chain for sag done with a spring balance.	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive

	There is also a hand-written letter from Mountfort to a T.G. Elliott, written from Feilding in 1932, concerning traverse books of Napier done by Mountfort and given to a draughtsman, who then took them to Auckland and "lost" them. From the tone of the letter it seems that Mountfort is the one being accused of "losing" the books. The letter is signed by Mountfort.
A 2009.216.36.06 Records	An exercise book with only a relatively few pages used by Mountfort showing his mathematical equations for Adjustment of the Angles of a Quadrilateral Triangle.	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive
A 2009.216.36.07 Records	A handwritten, brief description of the Work of Mr C.A.(Charles) Mountfort, surveyor, in the Feilding Area starting in 1874. Also copies of 4 letters by Charles Mountfort, all written from Feilding, 2 to the Chief Surveyor, James Mackenzie. The first letter in December 1900 accompanies "sheets showing comparison of the three Trig meridians at Wellington". There is mention of other surveyors' work comparing favourably with his calculations. The second letter(July 1912) to James Mackenzie, now Surveyor General for New Zealand, refers to Charles Mountfort's work checking the survey by a Mr Jackson of trigs in Wellington. The 3rd letter is written on 20th March 1927, referring to the new Oroua scheme settling reservoirs. The letter appears to have been written to the Feilding Borough Council, and refers to his thoughts on the magnitude of the Oroua scheme which is too costly for a small town to undertake. Mountfort mentions his thoughts that a less costly scheme "close by with practically no engineering difficulties" would have been better. The last letter on 24th March 1927 is to Whitcombe & Tombs Ltd, publishers, requesting that they stop sending him the Nautical Almanac every year, as being 74 and retired he no longer needs it.	Fair	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive

P 2009.221.01 Photocopied Material	2 Copies of the wedding photo of Robert & Annie Gray, Married at Stanway Church 1908. Formal portrait . Attached note: "This wedding photo is of Robert and Annie Gray (nee Tricker), married at Stanway Church in 1908. Robert was one of eleven children in the Gray family and his parents had a farm at Colyton. The family farm was not big enough to support the boys, so land was bought at Brandon hall, and the three boys Robert, Douglas and Beryl Gray's father Samuel broke in the sandy ground that was covered in flax and turned it into farming land. Beryl said it was very hard work."	Good	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive

Among those acknowledged were Sir Eddie (Taihakurei) Durie, Professor Mason Durie, Areti Metuamate and the aunty of the Durie brothers – Reverend Kahu Durie.

"Although we often hear about negative comments for Maori in general today, rarely does the iwi have the opportunity of coming together to celebrate those successes which whanau and hapu members achieve during the past year," said iwi spokesman Dennis Emery.

He said it was a privilege for the iwi authority to organise an appropriate event, bring their whanau members together and give clear recognition and acknowledgment to their iwi members.

Judge Sir Edward Durie (known as Sir Eddie), formerly of Feilding, received the insignia of a Distinguished Companion of the New Zealand Order of Merit, and was the very first tribal member of Ngati Kauwhata, Rangitaane, Ngati Raukawa, Ngati Rangatahi, Muaupoko and Ngati Toa Rangatira to achieve this honour.

The knighthood award, presented by the Governor General on April 4 in Wellington, was for services to the Maori Land Court, Waitangi Tribunal and High Court.

At the same time at St Paul's Cathedral in Wellington, Sir Eddie's aunt, Rev Kahu Durie, was the recipient of the Queen's Service Medal for services to Maori and the community.

Other iwi members whose achievements this year were celebrated included Areti Metuamate – a former head boy of Hato Paora who has a degree in politics and media and a first-class honours degree in political science, was one of only two New Zealanders to receive the prestigious Freyberg Scholarship.

He is now studying towards a Masters in Diplomacy and Strategic Affairs at Australian National University in Canberra. He is a
