P 2020.312.01 Photograph, Digital	Electronic copy of photo Charles Beazer with his horse 'Jumbo' c1905 Charles grew up in Bunnythorpe as one of a typically large family. He later moved to Feilding. He was a practical man who adapted to many tasks. Bush felling and milling was among his earlier work activities. Prior to getting married [1911?] he felled the timber for and had built for his then to be bride at what is now 92 Awahuri Road. That house still stands although subsequent owners have made changes. I remember him as a shearer at the Dalgety sheds at the Feilding stockyards. He also did a lot of building work for local farmers, travelling to jobs in his Model T Ford. - Bio provided by Noel Hall [grand-daughter].	Good	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive.

At Headquarters the radiolocator's messages and those of the Royal Observer Corps, are communicated instantly to R.A.F. Operations Rooms where they are plotted by highly skilled radio mechanics and manned by R.A.F. and W.A.A.F. radio operators. Large numbers of these which comprises each of these neve centres of Britain's air defences is illustrated in this series of photographs. But for the look of concentration on the faces of these girl plotters and the watching officers in the gallory, one would think that they were playing some ingenious game. P 2020.320.52	RAF "Mast-high" Daylight Attack on Rotterdam. British Official Photograph, Crown copyright reserved. On back - Flying as low as 20ft - "mast-high" - over the objective, Blenheim aircraft of the R.A.F. Bomber Command, escorted by fighter aircraft, attacked enemy shipping in the harbour and shipyard installations at Rotterdam in daylight on Thursday August 28. Despite heavy flak (anti-aircraft fire) from the ships and ground defences and rifle fire from the garrison, the aircraft pressedhome the attack, using bombs fused to explode within a few seconds if impact. This picture shows bombs exploding and firs burning in the dockyard installations during the daylight attack on Rotterdam. On right one of the attacking aircraft can be seen. This picture was taken from one of the attacking aircraft.	Excellent	OK	Feilding & Districts Community Archive.
